Single statehood, if not desirable to everybody, is the lesser of two evils and should be gladly supported and forwarded by all our people until they find that it, too, is powerless against carpet-bag influence.

Chickasha has made remarkable progress in the matter of securing tin bucket brigades, but the success already attained in this line should only stimulate to greater endeavor. The tin bucket brigade is the first essential to a large city. It not only means a large city but a prosperous one.

The Express is distributing a large number of sample copies of the paper to people who do not take it now. It costs you nothing. If after a week's trial you think you want it we will be glad to have you for a subscriber. The sample copy costs nothing, nor will it be continued unless you subscribe.

Supposing that Oklahoma and the Indian Territory should be made a state what name would be given the combination? In this connection, we want to suggest a few names and get the matter before the people. How would Indianokla do? And what's the matter with Oklandia? Why not make it Indianokla or Homaindia? Who will suggest something better? — Pryor Creek Clipper.

The names suggested above are all very appropriate, as are a number of others that have been manufactured by the boys of the Territory press, but when statehood does come, either double or single, let's give it an Indian name strictly and call it Kee-taw-saw-gee. This name is derived from the last syllable of the four principal nations of the five civilized tribes. Then, rather than leave the smaller nation out entirely, it would be proper to call the capital of the state Seminole. This combination was suggested to Enquirer by Miss Georgia Scudder, a talented Cherokee young lady and daughter of Mr. L. B. Scudder of the Canadian district. Of all the names yet presented, we believe that Kee-taw-saw-gee is the most appropriate, and in honor of a government that is fast being extinguished we hope the name will receive favorable consideration when the time comes to christen one of the future great states of the southwest. — Checota Enquirer.

A rose by any other name would smell as sweet. The future name of the new state will be "Oklahoma."

All Right Shoe Store.

The Devlins are engaged in opening up a very large and full line of Men's and Boy's footwear to which he invites the inspection of the public. This is the new shoe factory recently located here in the old Ernest building. As soon as fairly inaugurated the Devlins will have from 15 to 20 workmen. The Devlin's came here from Fort Smith, Ark., where they have been in this line for 30 years, and will make the "All Right Shoe Store" (their trade mark), one of Chickasha's institutions. This will be the only exclusive shoe store in the city. Drop in and see the new store and meet the new "All Right Shoe Store."

Always Make Love
to your wife: Remember she is just as sweet and dainty now as when you used to hold her by the hand and look into her eyes and tell her she was your only love, your heart's delight. Half the petulance and distress that makes you so irritable comes from indigestion. You can cure it by taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is guaranteed by E. Howard.
